Snowmass Village, Colo., (May 3, 2019) – Today, Snowmass Tourism releases eight of thirteen bands for the 2019 Snowmass Free Concert Series. Celebrating its 28th season, the Snowmass Free Concert Series, June 13 – August 22, plays 11 consecutive Thursdays on Fanny Hill, in addition to two bonus Saturdays, June 8 and July 13. The lineup showcases country, soul, jazz, rock, and more.

New for the 2019 season is Rock for a Reason on July 13. In place of the Deaf Camp Benefit, nonprofits from around the Roaring Fork Valley have the opportunity to advocate for their causes on the slopes of Fanny Hill. Select non-profits are invited to share their vision with Snowmass community during the first ever Rock for a Reason.

“We are thrilled to continue the Snowmass Free Concert Series into its 28th year, and to extend the season an extra week this summer,” says Rose Abello, Tourism Director, Snowmass Tourism. “And, we are super excited to launch Rock for a Reason to showcase many of the local nonprofits who do such incredible work in our Valley. Mark your calendars now, so you don’t miss a single show.”
